Wayne County has long been a top-10 oil producing county in Illinois, totaling 343,746 barrels in 2018, seventh-most among the state's 42 producing counties. IPRB estimates Wayne County's oil production industry generated more than $5.64 million in property tax revenue from 2007-2017 and conservatively estimates that at least $2.82 million of that revenue primarily went to fund the county's seven primary public school districts and their combined 2,539 K-12 students.
