Wayne County has long been a top-10 oil producing county in Illinois, totaling 281,495 barrels in 2020, seventh-most among the state's 42 producing counties. IPRB estimates Wayne County's oil production industry generated more than $6.3 million in property tax revenue from 2007-2020 and IPRB conservatively estimates that at least $3.1 million of that revenue primarily went to fund the county's seven public school districts and their combined 2,500-plus K-12 students.
